

Dr David Cooke

David is the Executive Director of ESG Advisory and is an Adjunct Professor at UTS Business School in Sydney. He is the author of the book Kind Business: How Values Create Value.

David previously held senior executive roles at Xerox and Canon and the position of Managing Director for ANZ for global technology firm Konica Minolta.

He has held the positions of Chair at the United Nations Global Compact Network Australia, the world's largest corporate sustainability network, and for the Australian Human Rights Institute Advisory Committee.

He was awarded a doctorate for his research entitled "Building Social Capital through Corporate Social Investment" and an honorary doctorate for his work in promoting sustainability within the corporate sector.